About Maleena:

Maleena has established herself as a dynamic force in the music industry with her previous EPs, "Bruises to Prove It" and "Diary of a Music School Drop Out". Since her debut single in 2019, including the award-winning 'Don't Forget Me,' she has showcased her versatility and musical range. Maleena's journey spans from playing bass in the hard rock band Chip & the Charge Ups to performing as a soprano in the East Shore Chorale, demonstrating her diverse musical skills and influences. Her music, featured on television programs like Pittsburgh Today Live and radio stations such as Q92.9, 105.9 The X, 97.7 The Rock Station, and 102.5 WDVE, has garnered widespread acclaim. Her music has received praise in print media, including the Beaver County Times and Pittsburgh Post Gazette, for her introspective lyrics and emotive melodies. With her upcoming album, Maleena continues to push boundaries as a songwriter, exploring new depths of storytelling and musical expression.

About For the Love of Everything Beautiful:

For the Love of Everything Beautiful is a deeply personal journey crafted entirely by Maleena, who played nearly every instrument, penned each lyric, and handled the recording and mixing process alone. At its core, the album is an autobiographical experience that embodies the healing power of music and the sheer joy it brings. Opening with the title track, a sprawling 6-minute epic, Maleena takes listeners on a poignant narrative of a girl navigating a challenging path. Starting with gentle piano and vocals, the song gradually builds momentum, shifting to an uplifting major key as the girl finds inspiration amidst nature's embrace.

Throughout the album, tracks like 'Red Flags,' 'Nowhere to Hide,' and a cover of Hanson's 'Strong Enough to Break' delve into universal struggles and emotional resilience. 'Growing Up' and 'Change' explore the complexities of adulthood and life's inevitable transformations. The album culminates with 'Not That Kinda Love Song' and 'Reprise,' which celebrate the profound joy and catharsis that music embodies, completing a journey of introspection, growth, and unabashed happiness.

The Third Chapter of an Autobiographical Trilogy

This album represents the third installment of Maleena's deeply personal musical trilogy. The journey began with "Bruises to Prove It," an exploration of adolescence and the trials of youth, which she started writing when she was just 15. The second chapter, "Diary of a Music School Dropout," captured her frustrations with the college system and the turbulence of that period.

In this third album, Maleena navigates the complexities of adulthood, seeking comfort and clarity through music. While this album completes the current trilogy, it also opens the door to new possibilities and future explorations. This work stands as a testament to the enduring power of music as a source of solace and self-discovery, reflecting her ongoing journey and growth.
